Representative Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin Is Dead

Oldest House Member in Point of Service at 80 Years of Age

SERVED FOR 36 YEARS

Supporter of LaFollette During Campaign For Presidency

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin is dead.

Oldest house member in point of service, the 80-year-old Republican progressive died at his hotel here early Sunday as he rounded out 36 years of service and planned to take his seat in the coming congress.

The tall, upright, white haired and bearded "dean of the house" as he was termed by his colleagues, attended a prolonged and heated house session Saturday night and retired late complaining of feeling ill. Death came a few hours later with his wife at his bedside.

Suffered Injuries

Representative Cooper had suffered injuries from a fall at his home in Racine last summer and his health had been none too good since. He had also been concerned over the health of his wife, who recently underwent a serious operation. His death was attributed to acute indigestion.

The Wisconsin member represented the first district. He entered the house with the 53rd congress in 1893. For one term, his service was broken. He was defeated for re-election to the 66th congress, because he voted against entering the World war along with 50 others.

Throughout his career he was an ardent supporter of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin. In 1923 the LaFollette group delayed three days the election of Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts as speaker by urging the selection of Cooper.

At the 1924 Republican convention in Cleveland he sponsored several planks of the LaFollette group for the party platform. Later he aided LaFollette in his presidential campaign.

Cooper was with Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee in 1912 when an attempt was made to assassinate the former president, then running for another term.

Speaker Longworth plans to appoint a house committee Monday to accompany the body to Racine where it will lie in state. The funeral party will leave Wednesday afternoon and the house will recess Monday out of respect to the veteran legislator.

Legislative Sidelights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK.—The rush through which legislatures always struggle in the closing days of the session has started in the forty-ninth general assembly.

With only a little more than a week and a half of the session remaining, both senate and house have calendars that appear as towering mountains to the members who have important bills they want passed.

Each house has received more than 300 proposed legislative acts during the seven weeks of the session, although more than 1,000 bills, and a comparatively small number have been acted upon in both houses.

When Governor Parnell left his office to spend the week end at his farm at Dermott, he had put his signature on a total of 71 measures. None has been vetoed.

Frequent night sessions of both houses are expected during the remainder of the session. The house has been holding two a week for the past two weeks and the senate started in during the past week.

The past week saw one of the most acrid debates of the session in the house over a state highway audit bill, long a subject of controversy. It was passed despite protestations of opponents that it would provide only a "white wash" audit of the department. The senate passed a similar measure, although different in the most disputed point, the appropriation to provide the work.

The house appropriation is $50,000, and opponents of the bill charged that this could furnish no comprehensive audit of the highway department. The senate measure has a $100,000 appropriation. Neither the house nor senate bill has been acted upon by the other branch.

Other important features of the legislature's work the past week included the signing by Governor Parnell of a bill increasing the gasoline tax from five to six cents a gallon, and a bill to reduce the residence requirements for divorces from one year to 90 days.

The latter was conceded to be a bid

Three Women to Leave the House

Mrs. Pearl Oldfield of Arkansas One of Trio to Retire

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Three of the nine women members of the house will go out of office when congress adjourns next Wednesday.

They are Ruth Hanna McCormick, republican, Illinois, who ran for the senate and was defeated by James Hamilton Lewis, a democrat; Pearl Peden Oldfield, democrat, Arkansas, who is retiring voluntarily; and Katherine Langley, republican, Kentucky, defeated for re-election by a democrat. "My district has honored the Oldfield's for a quarter of a century and I am conscious of the debt of gratitude we owe."

Applications For Loans By Veterans Has Started Here

Estimated That 700 Veterans in Hempstead Co. May Draw $350,000

MANY APPLICATIONS

Robert Wilson, Post Service Officer, Swamped With Applicants

Hempstead county veterans here started Monday morning applying for loans on their adjusted service certificates, through Robert Wilson, service officer of the Leslie Huddleston Post. A supply of notes and blank forms was received by Wilson early Monday morning, and he immediately started accepting applications. When it was learned that the Veterans Bureau did not have a supply of the needed blank note forms, and would not have them for ten days, Oran J. Vaughan, state commander of the American Legion immediately ordered a large supply printed. These were mailed to every Legion post in the state yesterday.

Mr. Wilson is making arrangements to handle all applications for loans and increases in loans as quickly as possible. A stenographer is being employed to expedite the detail work of handling the large number he expects to receive within the next few days.

Veterans have been asked to assist in giving priority to needy cases. Veterans Affairs Administrator Hines of Washington.

Mr. Wilson estimates approximately 700 Hempstead county citizens own adjusted service certificates as a result of their service in the army during the World War. It has been estimated that the average certificate calls for payments of $150 to $100. When congress increased the immediate loan value of these certificates to 50 per cent, this would make the average loan value $500 at this time a maximum of $350,000 on the certificates in Hempstead county. It is expected that a large percentage of local veterans will apply for loans at this time.

Until the recent increase in loan value, only 22 per cent could be borrowed on these certificates. Many veterans in this county have already borrowed up to that amount from banks, or the Veterans Bureau. These loans may be increased up to 50 per cent of value at maturity.

Needy Veterans First. Veterans have been asked to assist in giving priority to needy cases by Veterans Affairs Administrator Hines of Washington, over the radio Saturday. He also cautioned that veterans take care in not jeopardizing the value of their adjusted service certificates.

He pointed to figures showing if the full 50 per cent loan value is exercised and the interest is not paid annually, only a small amount would remain at maturity due to the 4-1/2 per cent compounded interest rate. A certificate for $1,000, on which $500 is borrowed at this time would call for payment of only $67.50 in 1945, he said.

42,000 Arkansas Veterans. Oran J. Vaughan, state commander of the Legion, estimates a total of 42,000 veterans in Arkansas. "It is my opinion that at least twenty thousand will apply for loans within the next sixty days," he said. At an average of $500 each, this would be a total of $10,000,000 in loans to Arkansas veterans.

Killing Follows Wife's Accusation

F. W. Cartright, Osceola, Fires Under Arm of Officer Attempting Arrest

OSCEOLA.—M. L. Crawford, for several years engineer for the Osceola oil mill, died in a Memphis hospital late Sunday, and F. W. Cartright, hardware merchant, is under arrest, charged with the killing.

Cartright shot Crawford under the arm of a police officer who had arrested Crawford on a warrant sworn out by Cartright, charging Crawford with making improper advances to Mrs. Cartright and attacking her with a pistol when she resisted.

Crawford lives across the street from Cartright, and when officers went to serve the warrant, Cartright followed and shot Crawford in the stomach. His nephew, J. W. Cartright, Jr., who had followed him, took the pistol away but sustained a flesh wound in the hand in doing so, and the same bullet that struck him wounded Crawford in the leg. Cartright then drew another pistol and Crawford drew one, but both were overpowered by the officers and disarmed.

It is alleged that Crawford, while drinking, visited Mrs. Cartright in her home and threatened her with a pistol when she objected to his attentions. Cartright, although under arrest, was permitted to go home. Both men are about 50.

Too Quick a Diagnosis

ONE of two things is generally wrong with discussions of the nation's business situation. Either it is taken for granted that the country has gone to the dogs and will never be able to lift its head from the pillow again, or it is assumed that everything is really all right and that we need only a little bit of Pollyanna gladness and hope to be as prosperous and happy as we ever were.

Recovery will come, of course—will come, probably, before we have stopped wailing about hard times. Sooner or later we shall be more prosperous and busy than we were in 1928 and 1929, and the time may not be as far off as we suppose.

On the other hand, there is no sense in trying to pretend that there is nothing the matter with us except a pessimistic frame of mind. The bread lines have been real enough; the Red Cross and other relief organizations have been busy enough. There has been plenty of suffering, and one must be a simpleton to deny it.

However, it is possible to strike a happy medium in appraising the situation.

In the current Magazine of Wall Street, Theodore Knapen reviews things and finds that while conditions are bad enough, 1930 has not by any means been a total loss.

For example, he points out that the brunt of the business depression fell on the steel, construction and automobile industries. But even so, these industries were better off than in 1920.

Similarly, the total volume of manufactures in America in 1930 was far above the total for 1920. There was only a slight drop in electric power output from 1929. The gasoline consumption for 1930 was the largest in American history. Department store sales in 1930 equaled those of 1929 in volume, and were only slightly below the min value. Chain store sales increased in volume, and fell off in value only fractionally.

Nor is that all. Savings banks deposits gained during 1930. The aggregate of interest and dividend payments on securities was considerably ahead of that of 1929. Capital issues of domestic securities were larger than in any previous years except 1928 and 1929.

What does all of this mean? Why, obviously, that the country is in better health than we have supposed. This is not to say that there has not been much suffering. It is not to say that there has not been a great deal of unemployment, a great deal of hunger, a great deal of discouragement. But it does mean that the country is on a very sound basis for a healthy trade revival—which can hardly be postponed much longer.

Because He Loved Her

A PHILADELPHIA youth the other day put a revolver and a pair of handcuffs in his pocket and went to call on his girl friend, with whom he had recently had a quarrel. He tried to make her go away with him, and prepared to use revolver and handcuffs to gain his end; but before he could succeed the police arrived and lugged him off to jail, where he was formally charged with assault and battery, carrying concealed weapons and forcible entry.

Undismayed, however, he insisted that he loved her more than ever, and declared that he "only wanted to get her into my car so we could elope and be married."

One's first reaction to all of this is to remark that the young man must have had a queer notion of love. To threaten a girl with a revolver and handcuffs does not seem a proper proof of affection, and the ordinary swain would hardly try to compel a girl to marry him if she did not want to.

Nevertheless, it is worth noticing that love, now and then, is precisely like that. The poets and novelists of the romantic school have given us a picture that is occasionally false. Love usually suffers long and is kind; but there are times when it produces a terrible explosion, and in such cases its unlucky object and its unlucky possessor are apt to find themselves in a good deal of trouble.

For love, in spite of all that has been written and said about it, remains as incomprehensible a force as ever; and sometimes it becomes quite uncontrollable. If it causes a good proportion of all of the joy and beauty that exist in the world, it also causes a great deal of suffering.

Incidents like this one in Philadelphia are not very rare, after all. Ever and again something similar pops up in the newspapers. A supposedly placid and law-abiding citizen suddenly kills his wife, or someone else's wife, and protests that he did it because he loved her. The rest of us scoff cynically—but in many cases these people are quite sincere.

Popular Indoor Sport!

made nothing but trouble." Probably that is merely some of his dry humor.

"King Alfonso's Rule in Balance," says a headline. A rule which is doubtless measured by martial feet.

Valcanoes are said to be showing increased activity. Recovering from the period of depression probably.

Charlie Chaplin recently refused an offer of $650,000 to broadcast over the radio. One case where silence is not golden.

United States farmers are charged with smuggling green vegetables into Canada. With the intent, perhaps, of making some late exchanges. Strangely enough, the wet blue in Congress has nothing to do with the drouth relief fund.

Gin Parties Just Replace Buggy Rides

SEATTLE, Feb. 28.—(U.P.)—Anyone who says that the younger generation is bad has forgotten things that happened in their youth. In the opinion of Truman H. Ketchum, Seattle's first truant officer, who held that post for 18 years.

The younger generation isn't bad, but mischievous—the same as 25 years ago, Ketchum declared. Gin parties, rumble seat necking, and airplane elopements have just taken the place of playing post office, buggy rides, and stepladder elopements. Ketchum's prescription to keep young moderns on their good behavior includes:

Make friends with your children—they'll listen to a friend.

Get out of the idea that every little prank is immoral.

Don't try to shift responsibility for the youngster on to the school.

Don't say, "Things were different when I was a boy." You know darn well they weren't.

Five Upland Acres Yield Record Seven-Bale Crop

SUMMERVILLE, Ga.—(U.P.)—Seven and a half bales of cotton on five acres is a good yield any year, in Georgia. But in 1930 it was considered strikingly unusual when it occurred in the driest part of the state and on an upland farm.

Billy Reynolds, Chattooga county farmer, reported such a yield to score the highest record of 51 contestants in the Georgia five-acre cotton contest. His county agent, B. M. Drake, of Summerville is authority for the report.

Reynolds says a crop of sweet clover grown on the land the year before was partly responsible for the good yield.

Without Salves or Cutting. Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID—Ward & Son says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back Adv.

Whoopee Scores Hit With Local Theatre Audiences

Local Theater goers who have not yet seen the United Artists film sensation, "Whoopee," filmed in beautiful technicolor and featuring Eddie Cantor, with the beautiful Ziegfeld girls, have a rare treat in store for them. Audiences at the preview Saturday evening and at the matinee Sunday afternoon were kept in a constant state of hilarity by the amusing antics of the capable Eddie Cantor who is a wow in Whoopee. The music is wonderful with numerous song hits among them being the popular "My Baby Just Cares For Me," featured by Cantor, the girls are beautiful and just ask anyone about the dances. It's a great picture, better than any musical comedy that we have ever had the pleasure of seeing and hearing. Ask your best friend about Whoopee and then go see the play.

Devil's Island Suggested to Replace Death Chair

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Dr. Amos Osborne, Squire, chief physician at Ossining for 30 years, made the suggestion that a Devil's Island prison be constructed in the depths of the Adirondacks to replace the death chair at Sing Sing.

The statement was made before the Greater Advertising Club in the Lafayette Hotel. Dr. Osborne said that four of the chair did not halt criminals.

"In all my years at Sing Sing I don't recall ever having to carry a man to the chair. Men are not afraid to die," he declared. "Electrocution, I fear, has not proved the deterrent to murder, its advocates hoped it would."

"Take away visiting privileges, writing privileges. Lock them up in an isolated place in the Adirondacks.
Make them work and support their dependents in the outside world. And keep them there until they die. That's the answer."

Cat Starves to Death

Grieving Over Mistress

NEWMAN, Ill.—(U.P.)—Devotion of animals toward humans is not restricted to dogs and horses, as a recent incident in which a cat died of grief because of the death of its mistress, disclosed.

"Andy," a large Persian cat, was so devoted to an elderly woman that it followed her wherever she went.

When her mistress died recently,
"Andy" grieved, refused to eat and was removed to another home. He walked from room to room, frequently jumping on the beds, scanning each new face, searching for his mistress, but he continued to refuse to eat and finally died of starvation.

Electric Fans Utilized to Cure Sweet Potatoes

OKEMAH, Okla.—(U.P.)—Electric fans play an important part in producing sweet potatoes on the Camp brothers' ranch near here.

After the potatoes have been grown in irrigated, terraced fields they are cured in specially constructed sheds, the walls of which are packed with sawdust. To keep in good condition the potatoes must be as dry as possi-

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

Jack's Luck
It is hard for Jack Quinn to take it his new team, the Robins, should emerge as conquerors of the American League. After serving a two-time winner in the American at an age when most men are chafing around in bed, Jack faces the prospect of splitting some more series with a member of a National League team. But please do not keep yourself awake nights doubting whether or not Jack would take it. Mr. Quinn has a sound idea of economic values.

Copped Again
The other night in Madison Square Garden Len Harvey defeated Vince Dundee, of the Baltimore Orioles, but the victory doesn't go on his record because he was outwitted by unintelligent officials. The customers, as usual, loved the peculiar decision. Referee Art Donovan voted for Dundee. Maybe you remember him as the man who messed up the Dempsey-Heney affair which Jack Dempsey overcame. Donovan, as timekeeper, counted Heney out just as Dempsey had reached the count of eight. Mr. Donovan was rewarded for this brilliant job by being made referee of the Harvey-Dundee bout. Harvey, the Britisher, and Heney, the New Zealander, have suffered by Mr. Donovan's marvelous wisdom. Some of the British heavyweights may be odd, but we have our own little oddities, have we not, my dear O'Goody?

Dempsey, Home-Lover
MRS. JACK ESTELLE TAYLOR DEMPSEY has been quoted here and there in the public prints as saying she did not desire to "settle down" and that she did not want babies to interfere with her career. But Jack, in a friendly

Max Baer should take up the grunt industry. . . . and a couple of others you could hit with a stone and never bother. . . . Smead Jolley, the White Sox outfielder, used to be a policeman. . . . now maybe you could call him a fly copper. . . . he can run all day in a telephone booth. . . . game of hearts with a sports writer in a hotel in Youngstown, O., says that surely Estelle was misquoted. "Estelle, of course, is in the movies now and is keeping active and working. And that's what I'm trying to do—keep active, working and keep my friends," said the Man Mauler. "But some day I mean to settle down and have a real home and children." Either Mrs. Dempsey has erred slightly, Jack is dead wrong or a lot of newspaper men have been misquoted. It must be the newspaper men. They never get anything right, anyway. Some reporters wrote once that Dempsey said he would fight again to keep the heavyweight championship of the world out of the hands of the sinister foreigners. A lot of undependable louts, those writers, always getting things balled up.

Burned Forests to Get Millions of Young Trees

WASHINGTON, (P)—Tree-planting in burned-over sections of the national forests from coast to coast will be resumed as the snow melts this spring. The United States forest service had about 15,000,000 young trees in its nurseries last fall when annual planting operations were begun. Planting will continue this spring in the Monongahela national forest in West Virginia, Nebraska national forest, Pike's national forest in Colorado, Joe's forest in Idaho, some of the national forests in the lake states, and probably in the Columbia National Forest in Washington. Some winter planting has been done in the south.

Young Lady Says She Had No More Trouble After Taking Cardui.

Greenville, Miss.—Mrs. C. W. Leach, of 109 Pecan Street, this city, says that she is glad to tell others how she was benefited by taking Cardui.
"When I was a young lady at home," writes Mrs. Leach, "I used to suffer a great deal with cramping spells. I would have something like a chill, and would have to go to bed for two or three days. I suffered with my back and from weakness. I took Cardui and it helped me. My back seemed to get stronger. I did not have to go to bed any more with cramping spells. I certainly can recommend Cardui for cramping.
"When I began taking Cardui, I would lose two or three days at a time from school, and this would be very hard on me, but after I took Cardui, I did not have any more trouble."

Shoe Shines 'Organized' By Women to Aid Needy

MADISON, Wis.—(P)—Mrs. Katherine Garland Vilas advocates more shoe shines to help the jobless. Mrs. Vilas organized workers in an eight-story office, building to guarantee shoe-shining jobs twice a week to some needy man. She listed 100 patrons and found an experienced shoe-shiner who had been out of work for a month. His business grew until polished oxfords were stepping jauntily forth from three Madison office buildings. Friday and Saturday evenings the man "shines 'em up" at university fraternity houses for week-end dances.

Gas Is Made From Tar at Four Cents a Gallon

SLOUGH, England.—(P)—A process for extracting gasoline from tar at a cost of four cents a gallon is claimed by Robert E. Goldborough, an oil research worker. Kerosene, oil lubricants, ethylene gas and pitch also can be made from tar by the same means, he said. Tar and steam are mixed at high temperatures and pressure, and the mixture expands into retort chambers. It comes out of the chambers as a white vapor, which at various stages of condensation gives gasoline and the other products, Goldborough explained.

Chicken Feather Pierces Windshield

CAMDEN, N. J.—(U.P.)—Can a chicken feather pierce a pane of glass? Scientists say no—but they're wrong. John Krown was driving a truck near the city asphalt plant. A dog started to chase a chicken. The chicken flew into the air and struck the windshield. It was uninjured. But when Krown examined the glass he found a feather had penetrated the windshield. One inch of the feather is on the inside, while four inches stick out on the other side. He announced he would leave the feather where it was.
